

Trisha Nagorski trisha.nagorski@oregonstate.edu

Trisha is married with 2 sons. She relocated to the Klamath Basin in November 2004 from Hillsboro, OR. She became very involved in volunteering at her sons school and at OSU Extension Center. She has been very active with the Master Gardeners and Master Food Preservers. Having served on the Board of Directors for the Master Gardener Association as Treasurer for 3 years. She enjoys gardening, cooking, food preserving, being in the woods, scuba diving and traveling. She is very interested in sustainable living and emergency preparedness. Trisha began working for Oregon State University Extension Office in February of 2011. She is currently Volunteer Coordinator and a Nutrition Education Program Assistant, teaching low-income families about nutrition and how to stretch their food dollars. Trisha graduated with honors from a Travel Academy in Santa Barbara, Ca and spent 20 magnificent years in the travel field working for an Airline and as a Corporate Travel Consultant which allowed her the opportunity to travel the World.

