Oregon State University has long supported outside professional activities of faculty and staff. These outside activities, collaborations, and relationships enrich the academic environment through advancement of an individual’s profession, the promotion of research and scholarship, and the quality of education of students. As the university promotes and encourages new and varied collaborations, it is a natural by-product that relationships can appear to become tangled and questionable, regardless of whether or not that is the case.

Heightened attention both nationally and locally on these relationships, as well as increased federal regulations and scrutiny directed at management of conflicts of interest and commitment, now dictate that we adopt a greater level of documented accountability in this area. At the heart of this approach is protecting the integrity of the university and its faculty, staff and students from real or perceived conflicts arising from these collaborations and relationships.

Recognition and reporting of potential conflicts of interest are the key to management of concerns about such conflicts. This is an abbreviated reporting form that will likely be usable by the majority of academic faculty.

1. Do you or does any member of your Family have a Financial Interest (including consulting) with a business enterprise or entity that funds or sponsors your university-based research or scholarly activity? ○ yes ○ no

2. Do you or does any member of your Family have a director or managerial role or a Financial Interest a) with a business enterprise or entity in your field of research or scholarly activity or b) business enterprise or entity that does business with the University? ○ yes ○ no

3. If you are seeking, or have been awarded, funds from the Public Health Service or the National Science Foundation, do you have a Significant Financial Interest that would reasonably appear to be affected by the research for which funding is sought or has been awarded, or in entities whose financial interests would reasonably appear to be affected by the research? ○ yes ○ no

4. Do you have other non-University professional or income producing activities involving Oregon State University faculty or staff? ○ yes ○ no

5. Do you or does any member of your immediate Family have any other relationships, commitments, or activities that might present or appear to present a conflict of interest with your Oregon State University appointment? Such relationships may include financial or fiduciary interests or uncompensated activities, whether or not you believe the conflict is manageable. ○ yes ○ no

6. Do any of the graduate or undergraduate students working with your project have any potential conflicts of interest of which you are aware? ○ yes ○ no

If you answered yes to any of the questions above, you will need to complete the longer version of this reporting form.

7. Do you have external income producing activities such as outside consulting that are reportable as consulting or other activities? ○ yes ○ no If yes, have you filed a Request for Approval for Outside Employment? ○ yes ○ no

In submitting this form, I affirm that I have read the University’s Policy on Conflict of Interest and the above information is true to the best of my knowledge. Please note - if significant changes in activities occur during the year, you must update this form.
