Some possibilities for professional development that Career Services could offer:

MBTI refresher—for yourself, and some information on “advising to type”
(using type dynamics to successfully advise students)

Strong Interest Inventory refresher (for students or self)

Helping students assess and clarify career-related values

Navigating career priorities in light of the current economy

Working with students making career/major transitions

What the career exploration might include year-by-year

Collaboration between advisors and career services

Something else that you’ve noticed a need for??

Time of year you’d like to see this be offered?

(specifically, is summer an option for your department?)
