

Princeton Animal Hospital and Carnegie Cat Clinic, currently competing in Veterinary Economics for Hospital of the Year, is housed in a new facility one mile from renowned Princeton University. Considered the premier dog and cat hospital in the area, we are looking for new associates to live up to our aspirations for today and help us create a vision of what we will be tomorrow. New graduates are always provided with thorough stewardship by our most senior doctors. In fact, senior DMV's are actually scheduled time to do in-house training. Flexible work hours mean that our newest team members can pursue a wide range of extracurricular interests beyond the practice. Owners, Drs Jim and Terry Miele are former Ohio State Graduates.

About Us

Princeton Animal Hospital and Carnegie Cat Clinic was founded in 1988 and is owned by Dr. James and Terry Miele, both with over 20 years of experience. Our state of the art facility, in a brand new location, currently employs 8 veterinarians and a team of 40 support staff members giving us one of the largest doctor- to-support staff ratios in the business. Some of the services we provide are orthopedic and soft tissue surgery, 24 hour nursing care, senior DVM mentorship, radiology, ultrasonography, in-house diagnostic laboratory and some patient critical care. A sister, feline-only practice, housed on the lower floor of our complex, provides insight into feline medicine on a Board Certified level of care. Our management team is five members strong, all with many years of experience, and is dedicated to providing our support staff with a fair, open-book and empowered work environment. We are a small animal only practice with a limited amount of exotics. Emergency work is seen on a regular basis.

About The Area

People who have only seen the grittier side of New Jersey in movies or heard it joked about are often shocked at how beautiful our area, the South Central portion of the state, can be. During off hours our current associates enjoy down time in any one of the many historic, yet affordable towns surrounding Princeton or enjoy recreating along the Delaware River, only 20 minutes away. Shopping and fine dining are available 360 degrees from the facility as well as loads of nighttime activities. Additionally, New York City, Philadelphia and the famous Jersey Shore are just one hour away by car or train. There are several professional theatres nearby, all of which are nationally renowned. See www.princetonchamber.org for more information.

By far though, the small nearby villages, each surrounded by four seasons of beautiful farmland, are this area's most valued resource. Each can provide new comers affordable housing, often in locations that have Revolutionary War history, close to metropolitan areas and yet relatively crime free. For those with new families, we have daycare very close to the practice and some of this nation's best school systems. Princeton University, only one mile away, is an eternal source of interesting events and bright individuals, some of whom are employed with us as they await acceptance to veterinary school.
